Technology

Refining Technology

Aspiring for the modernized and advance technology. Kundan has brought up world class Gold Refinery. First in the country in terms of Speed, cost effective as well as environmental excellence.

Our R&D investments have led to a significant reduction of the total refining time process as well as sound procedures to produce less emission.

Our technology requires the need for pretreatment measures that utilizes the highly dangerous refining process. As a result, our facilities are safeguarded for both our employees and the environment.

As a reason of our dedication for the advancement as well as of refining technologies we are fitted to produce the highest grade precious metals. The cumulative effect of these measures ensures that your precious metals refining needs will be met in the most efficient matter.

Refining Process and Testing

Kundan has always been certified for its uniform standards. Therefore to maintain, forward advance research and testing lab is the most important objective. Our In house lab is accredited from NABL (National Accreditation Board for Testing and Calibration Laboratories) purity through various traditional or instrumental methods.

Gold refining is done by aquaregia as well as incorporation process whereas silver refining is done by electrolysis as well as chemical precipitation.

After processing, several traditional and instrumental testing methods are applied for the desired result.

Our advanced assay and refining technology enable us to settle every lot within 24 hours from receipt. Along with the traditional Fire Assay method, we also own and operate the latest analytical electronic instrumentation, such as Spectro Midex X-RAY and Spectro Arcos ICP.

XRF facility for both gold and silver testing is also available, along with purity testing by the traditional water density method.

CERTIFICATE NO.: T-3231
